Comment:

I don't like the sound of 'incorporating.' Why does anyone want to quote more than fair use allows? The only reason I can see is a desire to reprint the entire piece as if it weren't copyright. I don't really think that's a great idea as maybe the author is simply hard to reach but still entitled to his/her intellectual property even to the point of the piece not being reprinted. I've had my copyright violated despite being quite easy to reach and I don't like it.
